

The Wisconsin No Call List should not be weakened. The public does not want to be hassled by these organizations. Consumers do not want to be marketed to on their private phones, even if they have used a product or service. The National Association of Banks should forget it - get lost.